

Help Documentation

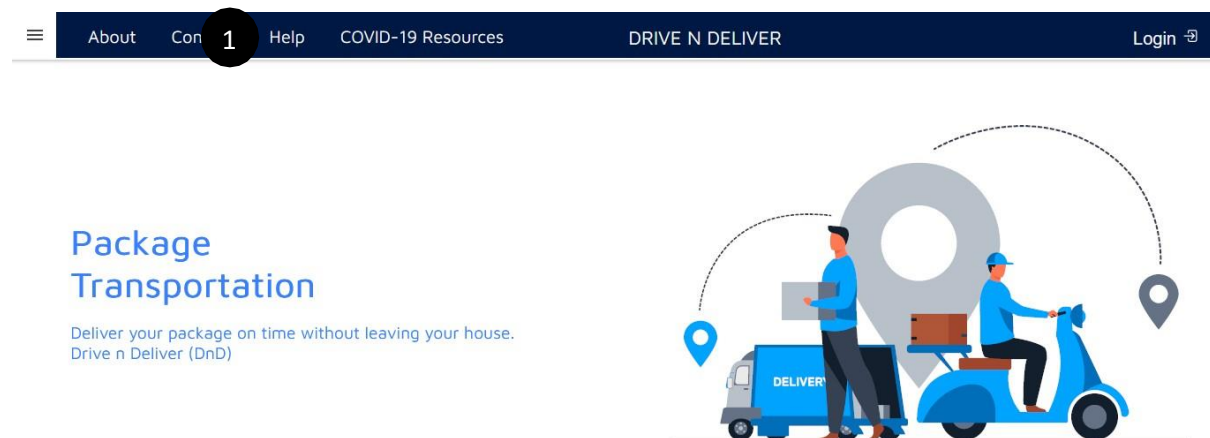

Introduction

The Help document can be accessed throughout the system if the user requires any assistance. This document can be used in addition to the training manual and the user manual.

The following icon is displayed throughout the system to provide hints and guidelines to show how the system operates. This allows a user-friendly experience.

On the Home page, a Help tab can be located in the navigation bar where the user can view the Help document in full and download it. This is shown below:

Number	Name	Description
1	Help	A user can view the help document by clicking on the “Help” button in the navigation bar.

Conclusion

The Help document assists users in understanding how to use the system and how to navigate through the system. This document can be used in conjunction with the training manual and the user manual.